8. UPDATE ON THE CURRENT REVIEW OF THE LOCAL AGREED RE SYLLABUS

The purpose of the ASC meetings was to plan and prepare for the new Local RE Agreed Syllabus (Syllabus) which was due to be released to schools in September 2026. This was the second meeting of the ASC for the 2025/2026 academic year.

The Chair explained that since the last meeting, she had met with the RE Advisor and they had gone through the current syllabus in detail and had identified areas where changes needed to be made. The Chair reminded members that it had been agreed that there would be no major changes to the syllabus in this review, and that smaller amendments and updates would be made. The Chair had completed a comparison exercise against the Religious Education Council's suggestions and recommendations, particularly in respect of including more of a "world view" approach.

The Chair shared the current Local RE Agreed Syllabus on screen and the group talked through the Chair and RE Advisor's comments and suggested changes and amendments. In the ensuing discussion, the following points were raised –

- It was suggested that the Syllabus could be sub-titled "Together for Tomorrow" as that programme had been well received and could continue. This would reflect the themes of diversity, respect, tolerance and sense of belonging in Rotherham. It was proposed that the Introduction section also be updated to include "Together for Tomorrow".
- In the Executive Summary at page 4 of the Syllabus, the Chair suggested amending wording slightly to reflect that the syllabus provides "guidance" for outcomes and that schools must implement "an appropriate scheme of work for RE which enhances their school context", to reflect that the demographic at each school may be different.
- There was discussion around the prescription of religions studied at each Key Stage – KS1 was currently set out as "Christianity & Judaism (some Islam can also be used)". One member of the group commented that given the demographic in some parts of Rotherham, it would be more appropriate to incorporate teaching on Islam from an earlier age to ensure that religions were better represented within schools. This was considered important for community cohesion. However, other members of the group expressed caution around grouping Christianity and Judaism together as whilst there was some overlap, they are separate faiths.

ROTHERHAM STANDING ADVISORY COUNCIL FOR RELIGIOUS EDUCATION –
AGREED SYLLABUS CONFERENCE (ASC) 18/11/25

- It was also suggested that the paragraph referring to non-religious views be expanded upon to fully recognise and include other world views within the Syllabus, including but not limited to, Atheism, Agnosticism and Humanism. Census and ONS data for Rotherham suggested that these were growing areas of belief. The group agreed with this suggested change and to increased reference to non-religious world views throughout the Syllabus.
- The diagrams illustrating the “Aims & Intentions of RE” at pages 7 and 8 of the Syllabus were considered and the Chair suggested swapping Aim B (Express ideas and insights about the nature, significance and impact of religions and world views) and Aim C (Gain and deploy the skills needed to engage seriously with religions and world views) around in order to align them with the priorities set out within the OFSTED “Deep and meaningful? Religious Education Subject report” (2024). The group discussed whether to keep both diagrams in the Syllabus as they included the same information and it was agreed to remove the table format on page 7 and keep the more pictorial diagram on page 8 as this better demonstrated the interconnectedness and flow of the three elements – Knowledge, Expression and Skills.
- The group considered page 8 of the Syllabus which covered the “Contribution of RE to whole school priorities”. The RE Advisor reflected that often, the Head of RE in a school is assumed to also be the lead person on “Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural Development” (SMSC) but that SMSC should be a whole school priority and considered as a separate thing. The RE Advisor felt that this should be made clear within the Syllabus. The SEND School representative suggested that more guidance for SMSC Leads within schools could be incorporated into the syllabus to help them embed it into the curriculum. The Chair agreed with this suggestion and confirmed she would look to make amendments to incorporate new SMSC guidance and reflect the OFSTED framework.
- The group discussed the pages of the Syllabus that covered Cultural Capital, which had previously been included to fit with the OFSTED framework. This was no longer such a priority, and it was questioned whether this section was still required. The group agreed that this section should be kept in but made more succinct. It was suggested that the “Together for Tomorrow” programme should now be the primary focus of this section of the Syllabus. One group member mentioned the current focus of the Rotherham Faith Leaders group – namely cohesion and shared values - and that inter-faith activities are being encouraged within schools. The Chair agreed that this could be encouraged within the new Syllabus but that there would not be the capacity to thread this through the whole document as this would require a significant rewrite.

- The group referred to the outcomes of the recent Curriculum and Assessment Review commissioned by the government, where it was recommended that RE be incorporated into the National Curriculum. The group welcomed this development but acknowledged that the timescale for this was as yet, undetermined. The Chair commented that it was wise to continue with the proposed work on the Syllabus whilst these recommendations were considered by the government, but that a full overhaul of the Syllabus would not be a good use of time. The Governance Advisor confirmed that this had also been the view of other SACREs who had attended a recent NASACRE Yorkshire Regional Hub meeting.
- The Chair confirmed that any recent updates in Relationships, Sex and Health Education (RSHE) would be incorporated into the relevant section of the Syllabus.
- The Census figures would need to be updated as the figures in the current Syllabus were from 2011. Tricia Williams agreed to obtain the updated census information and would also prepare some pie-charts to display the information in a different way. One member commented that pie-charts can have the effect of diminishing the size of some groups. It was agreed that the Census information should be presented in both tabular and pie-chart form and that the commentary text around what had changed would be updated.
- There was discussion around the six principal religions that are studied across all key stages. One member of the group commented that it seemed a shame that Judaism is studied at a very young age in KS1 and then not really picked up again later in a child's education. This led to a general discussion about the juxtaposition of religion with history, human geography and current affairs and the cross-curricular opportunities for teachers.
- One member of the group suggested that collective worship should be explicitly referred to in the Syllabus as this was a valuable way of linking RE to other subjects. The Chair suggested that the Rotherham SACRE's separate Guidance for Collective Worship could be updated. The RE Advisor agreed that this would be helpful to some schools at KS4 where there was not much curriculum time available for RE, but that collective worship should also be referred to in the Syllabus. The SEND School representative agreed and felt that it would be very useful to have some information on collective worship set out clearly within the Syllabus. The group agreed that a paragraph should be drafted on collective worship for inclusion at page 16 of the Syllabus.

ROTHERHAM STANDING ADVISORY COUNCIL FOR RELIGIOUS EDUCATION –
AGREED SYLLABUS CONFERENCE (ASC) 18/11/25

- The Chair suggested a re-draft of the suggestion as to how RE is delivered – change from flexible, possibly in blocks or themed days or weeks to a recommendation that it be taught via a consistent weekly lesson. This would encourage a high standard of teaching and that RE is not tokenistic. It was accepted that there needed to be some flexibility maintained in teaching across mixed age groups.
- It was agreed that the section entitled “Respect for All, Global Learning, British Values and Community Cohesion” would need re-drafting to reflect the Together for Tomorrow programme. This section could be cut down and the Chair agreed to insert the relevant hyperlinks to useful websites and resources.
- It was agreed that the section entitled “Fundamental British Values in RE” should be moved to sit with the SMSC section of the Syllabus.
- The Chair confirmed that the Syllabus would be checked against the new Early Years & Foundation Stage (EYFS) curriculum to ensure that it aligned.
- The Chair explained that it was proposed to keep the Program of Study for each Key Stage the same. The RE Advisor explained that for KS3, the recommendations as to when units were taught would be removed to allow schools flexibility as to when certain RE units could provide the best sequencing for their students. The RE Advisor commented that the ongoing challenge for KS4 and KS5 is the lack of curriculum time for RE and that it is often included within personal development lessons.
- In the section title “Learning outside the Classroom in RE” the RE Advisor commented that it would be useful to add in hyperlinks and a list of useful recommendations for RE visits with the relevant contact details.
- In the table headed “Personal Learning and Thinking Skills for RE” it was explained by the Chair and the RE Advisor that the Thinking Skills column would be removed along with the “Skillsbuilder” diagram later in the Syllabus as this was no longer used. The skills now encouraged by OFSTED within RE were the skills of being a theologian, a sociologist or a philosopher and schools should lead on incorporating these skills within their own pedagogy.
- A member of the group commented that it was becoming increasingly difficult to find school speakers on RE. It was commented that there could be better co-ordination between SACRE, the Rotherham Faith Leaders Group and RMBC. It was suggested that some information on where details of school speakers could be found/links to the RE Hub could be provided within the Syllabus to better signpost schools. There was discussion around compiling a list of known speakers with contact details and information about what faith/belief they could speak about. There were very few speakers listed for the South Yorkshire area on the RE Hub so it was agreed that some work needed to be done to encourage people to sign up to the RE Hub. It was suggested that this issue be added to the agenda at the next SACRE meeting to encourage other SACRE members to either sign up to become speakers themselves or to share details of known speakers. The Governance Advisor confirmed that this would be added to the agenda for the 4th December 2025 Rotherham SACRE meeting.

- A member of the group expressed concern around the threat of AI to the essential critical thinking and analysis skills that are necessary for RE. Failure to check sources and question the accuracy of information was more prevalent with the rise of social media and AI. The Chair agreed that a section encouraging critical engagement, personal reflection and world view analysis needed to be incorporated into the Syllabus.
- Regarding SEND and engagement, the new OFSTED framework placed a big emphasis on inclusion and the Chair confirmed that the section of the Syllabus on “RE for pupils with SEND; engagement and learning for all” would be re-worked to reflect this.
- The Chair confirmed that the section on differentiation in teaching would also be re-worded as the adaptive teaching model is now preferred, where all children complete the same learning/activity but with different scaffolding to support different needs.
- It was suggested that an acknowledgment list be included at the end which would recognise the various sources consulted in putting the Syllabus together.
- One member commented that the children’s artwork incorporated within the Syllabus was very impactful and suggested that more recent, artwork from local schools be incorporated into the revised Syllabus. The Chair agreed that this was important and suggested that the RE Awards could provide some good examples of local children’s work to include. The RE Advisor also suggested taking some photos at the Together for Tomorrow event in January.
- A member of the group commented on how inspirational Madam Mayor’s recent speech at the Religious Leader’s Group meeting had been. The group discussed asking Madam Mayor to speak again at the Together for Tomorrow event in January or whether she could record a speech for use. The Governance Advisor would seek the appropriate contact and check protocols for Madam Mayor's engagements.

AGREED SYLLABUS CONFERENCE (ASC) 18/11/25

9. NEXT STEPS FOR THE DRAFT LOCAL AGREED RE SYLLABUS

The next steps to progress the review of the Syllabus were agreed as follows:–

- The Chair and the RE Advisor would meet again to further progress the re-drafting of the Syllabus, based on the feedback and agreement on issues raised at this meeting.
- Tricia Williams would obtain up to date ONS data and create tables and pie-charts as agreed, to be provided to the Chair and RE Advisor to incorporate into their re-working of the Syllabus.
- The Governance Advisor confirmed that the next meeting of the ASC group was scheduled for 2nd March 2026 and that the Chair and RE Advisor would need to bring the amended Syllabus back to the group at that meeting for agreement. The Syllabus would then go before the main Rotherham SACRE meeting in June for formal approval, to enable it to be implemented in schools for September 2026. The group confirmed their agreement to this proposed schedule.
- Feedback from this meeting would be provided to the next SACRE meeting on 4th December 2025.

The Chair thanked all members of the group for their time and useful feedback.

10. ANY OTHER BUSINESS

There were no additional items of business requiring consideration at the meeting. The date and time of the next meeting of the ASC was confirmed to be Monday 2nd March 2026 at 4.00pm, via Teams.

Also in attendance was A. Duncan (SEND School Representative)

11. APOLOGIES FOR ABSENCE

Apologies were received from D. Homer, L. Melvin, E. Nicholls and S. Yasseen and Councillor Ismail.

12. DECLARATIONS OF INTEREST

There were no declarations of interest declared.

13. MINUTES OF THE PREVIOUS MEETING

Consideration was given to the minutes of the previous meeting held on 18th November 2025 along with any matters arising. As the meeting was not quorate these minutes will automatically carry forward to the next meeting for approval.

14. UPDATE ON THE CURRENT REVIEW OF THE LOCAL AGREED RE SYLLABUS

The purpose of the ASC meetings was to plan and prepare for the new Local RE Agreed Syllabus (Syllabus), which was due to be released to schools in September 2026. This was the third meeting of the ASC for the 2025/2026 academic year.

The Chair explained that since the last meeting, the RE Advisor had confirmed that they would have to step away from the post due to their school being unable to release them for the time required. As a result, resource to complete the Syllabus review was now very stretched. The Chair would continue to work on the amendments when they could but was likely to require assistance from other SACRE ASC members to complete the review. As a result of the lack of dedicated resource, the timescale for completion and approval by SACRE of the new Syllabus by September 2026 for the next academic year, was looking unlikely.

The group talked through the Chair's amendments to the draft Syllabus and in the ensuing discussion, the following points were raised:-

- The Chair confirmed that all the changes that had been discussed in the previous meeting had been made. This should ensure that the syllabus was in line with the recently updated Religious Education Curriculum guidance.
- There was discussion around the formatting of the document. The insertions and amendments made by the Chair were sometimes in a different style and font and this led to the document looking somewhat messy and piecemeal. The Chair acknowledged this but confirmed that the content of the Syllabus was their current priority and that once this was complete and agreed upon, the formatting could be sorted to ensure that the document looked better with a more consistent style throughout. The Governance Advisor commented that officers from RMBC may be able to provide some assistance in ensuring the formatting was standardised and would talk to Niall Devlin, the Service Director of Education & Inclusion, about this.
- The Chair confirmed that the Introduction section had been updated to provide a summary of the aims and purposes of the Syllabus and how it had been refined from the previous version. Numerous dates had also been updated throughout the document.
- The Chair talked through the changes discussed in the earlier meeting, where the teaching of Islam was to be made more prominent in KS1 units, to better reflect the demographic in the Rotherham area. The wording had therefore been changed in parts of the Syllabus to reflect this.
- In the section headed "Religious Education in Rotherham – Aims and Purposes", the Chair explained that quite a few changes had been made to reflect the National Statement of Entitlement and that the aims of RE within Rotherham were aligned with current thinking and the OFSTED Deep & Meaningful Report. Reference had also been included to the Together for Tomorrow project.

- The Chair confirmed that the table at the bottom of page 7 would be removed, as previously agreed, and that the headings of the boxes on the flow chart on page 8 would be changed to reflect the headings in the table:- A – Substantive Knowledge, B – Disciplinary Knowledge & C – Personal Worldview.
- The sections headed “Spiritual Moral, Social and Cultural Development” and “Religious Education and Statutory Relationships and Sex Education” had been drafted to reflect updates to the curriculum which were coming into effect in September 2026.
- The Chair explained that they had attempted to update the census data from the ONS in the table on page 12 but was hoping that Tricia Williams would be able to check this as she had previously offered to provide the required data. The data had been taken from the 2021 census, and it was discussed that it would be worth keeping reference to previous years’ data within the document so that the changes in the religious make-up of the area could be tracked. It was also suggested that each column should display the percentages for reference. Tricia Williams did later join the meeting and confirmed that she could double check the census data and would confirm to the Chair if any amendments were required.
- The table headed “Global religion: a simple approach” had been amended slightly as the information available from the Pew Research Centre now used the comparator “If the world was a village of 100 people” rather than 1,000 people.
- During discussions on the stages at which different religions and worldviews were to be studied, the SEND School Representative commented that when setting SEND children work on RE, they were often working well below age related expectations – for example, KS2 children were accessing Foundation stage units. In their experience, this meant that there were not enough units of work available to keep SEND children engaged in RE at the level they needed to work at. It would potentially be necessary for those teaching SEND to look at other faiths and worldviews earlier, within the Foundation level, to keep building on knowledge. A lot of SEND settings were using other resources, such as Twinkl and Oak National Academy, to provide enough material to teach at a Foundation level.
- It was discussed that further guidance could be provided within this section for SEND staff regarding the adaptation of units and breaking them down into smaller chunks which would work better for the cognitive ability of SEND students. The Chair and the SEND School Representative agreed to meet further to develop this work outside of the meeting, with a view to creating further units for

SEND students. The Chair commented that this could be part of SACRE's wider development plan. It was important that all children could access the RE syllabus.

- The Chair explained that a new section had been inserted which would be headed "Inclusive Practice in RE". This covered the adaptations learning that could be made for SEND students within a mainstream, primary setting. This section reflected a lot of the Education Endowment Fund research on inclusive practice and would ensure alignment with the National Statement of Entitlement and SEND Code of Practice. The Chair acknowledged that this section would not go far enough to support students within a wholly SEND setting, but the SEND School Representative commented that it was encouraging that these adaptations were being encouraged and clearly set out for mainstream staff.
- The expectation that RE should be taught in dedicated lessons once or twice a week rather than in blocks or themed sessions had been incorporated across the document.
- A new section headed "RE subject content: programmes of study 4-19" had been added and this incorporated new statutory requirements for EYFS and up to date research on pedagogy.
- The Chair confirmed that they would now move on to make amendments to the sections setting out the Syllabus in detail for Key Stages 1 & 2 but commented that they would need further input from some of the secondary school staff who were members of SACRE ASC with regard to the detail on Key Stages 3, 4 & 5. The Chair would liaise with these members to try and hold a sub-group discussion on the post-11 syllabus prior to the next meeting of SACRE ASC.

15. NEXT STEPS FOR THE DRAFT LOCAL AGREED RE SYLLABUS

The next steps to progress the review of the Syllabus were discussed as follows:–

- Feedback from this meeting would be provided to the next SACRE meeting on 19th March 2026.
- The Chair would continue to work on re-drafting the Syllabus, based on previous feedback and discussions which had taken place in this meeting. Due to the RE Advisor's recent resignation, the Chair would contact Members for assistance where required.
- The Chair would liaise with Tricia Williams to verify the census and ONS data set out in the Syllabus.
- The Chair would look to expand on the section headed "Which worldviews are to be studied" and add a paragraph to provide guidance for SEND settings on how to adapt units of work.
- The Chair would look to arrange a separate meeting with Angela

Duncan, SEND School Representative, to consider creating some separate SEND units of work, as part of SACRE's wider development plan.

- The Chair would look to arrange a separate sub-group meeting of secondary school staff members of SACRE ASC to consider amendments to the "Program of Study" sections for Key Stages 3, 4 & 5.
- The Governance Advisor confirmed that the next meeting of the ASC group was scheduled for 1st June 2026, subject to approval of the municipal calendar for 2026-27 by Full Council on 4th March 2026. A further meeting of the ASC had been included in the calendar of meetings for September 2026 given that completion of the required amendments to the Syllabus was likely to take longer due to the lack of resource following the RE Advisor's resignation.

The Chair thanked all members of the group for their time and useful feedback.

16. PROPOSED 2026-2027 SACRE ASC DATES

The Governance Advisor explained that the proposed dates for the 2026-27 municipal calendar were due to be approved at the meeting of Full Council which was due to take place on 4th March 2026. The Governance Advisor had included two more meetings of the SACRE ASC in the draft calendar of meetings on the following dates:-

- 1st June 2026; and
- 7th September 2026.

It was hoped that the revised Syllabus could be finalised over the summer months and brought to the ASC and SACRE in September 2026 for approval, prior to distribution to and implementation in schools from January 2027.

17. ANY OTHER BUSINESS

There were no additional items of business requiring consideration at the meeting. The date and time of the next meeting of the ASC was expected to be Monday 1st June 2026 at 4.00pm, via Teams, subject to Council approval of the 2026-27 Municipal Calendar.
