N/A

Will the proposal affect Council services' resilience to climate change, or the capacity of people living in the Borough to adapt to climate change?

Whilst there will be no direct impacts on resilience of this decision, the discretionary relief for these organisations will enable the support of additional families throughout the Borough, indirectly supporting resilience through increased capacity which intends to support the most vulnerable of Rotherham's residents.

Provide a summary of all impacts and mitigation/monitoring measures:

There are no carbon impacts directly associated with this decision.
